About CBA
The Consumer Bankers Association is the recognized voice on retail banking issues in the nation’s capital. Member institutions are the leaders in consumer financial services, including auto finance, home equity lending, card products, education loans, small business services, community development, investments, deposits and delivery. CBA was founded in 1919 and provides leadership, education, research and federal representation on retail banking issues such as privacy, fair lending, and consumer protection legislation/regulation. CBA members include most of the nation’s largest bank holding companies as well as regional and super community banks that collectively hold two-thirds of the industry’s total assets. CBA’s Education Funding Committee is the public policy voice for private-market capital to fund loans supporting America’s students. The special challenges facing American higher education necessitate that voice more than ever, particularly as Congress begins reauthorization of the Higher Education Act.

About EFC
The Education Finance Council (EFC) is a non-profit trade association that represents state-based student loan secondary market organizations including scholarship funding corporations throughout the country. These public purpose organizations are dedicated to the single purpose of making sure students can get the money they need to go to college. Secondary markets expand access to higher education in two main ways: by ensuring the availability of funding for student loans and by making it easier and less expensive to pay for college. Secondary markets, along with lenders, guaranty agencies and other service providers are participants in the Federal Family Education Loan Program. This landmark federal program has been opening the doors of higher education for over 40 years.

About NCHELP
Based in Washington, DC, the National Council of Higher Education Loan Programs, Inc. (NCHELP) represents a nationwide network of guaranty agencies, secondary markets, lenders, loan servicers, collectors, schools and other organizations involved in the administration of the Federal Family Education Loan Program (FFELP). Since its founding, NCHELP has represented its members on public policy and regulatory issues with the legislative and executive branches of the federal government. NCHELP members promote student access and choice for postsecondary education and training. A key objective is to keep the public informed about the availability of FFELP loans as a method to ensure open access to a postsecondary education. NCHELP’s members provide guaranteed loan assistance under the Federal Family Education Loan Program, which consists of four different loan programs: subsidized and unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans, Federal PLUS Program and Federal Consolidation Loan Program.
